

Curious about the Craft of Writing?

COLOR!

Tired of winter's grays and whites? Come join us as we look at examples of published work in which a color-word (e.g. "red") plays a surprising part in making the written piece powerful and interesting. Then apply what you have learned to whatever kind of writing you prefer (fiction, memoir, poetry, song).

You will not be required to write or share your own work, but you will have the option to do so in a warm, supportive atmosphere at the end of the meeting.

This program is for anyone who enjoys reading and wants to learn more about writing.

No prior experience is necessary.

Gale Free Library
Holden, MA

Monday, March 19, 2018

10:30AM -12:00M

This class is free, but space is limited.

Please call 508-210-5569 to register.

This class will be led by Holden writer and teacher Jennifer Freed, whose recent work appears in various journals including Zone 3, Connecticut River Review, Timberline Review, and The Worcester Review, and in a chapbook These Hands Still Holding, which was selected as a finalist in the 2013 New Women's Voices Competition.

